

Note: Green indicates that without that location the coefficient on distrust would still be significant, red indicates that it would be insignificant.